PORTLAND, PRIDAY, DEC. 24, 1886.

A BAD BASIS.

Our dispatches say that republicans of the senate and house will hold a conference to consider and determine what course is to be taken by them in regard to the tactif. It is admitted on all sides that the revenue must be reduced; and since republicans must take some position on the subject, it is important that an attempt be made to define their policy. The Philadelphia Press, one of the journals that speak for the great protected interests which find their main support in the republication party, easy in a positive and apparently authoritative way, that the republicans in congress "will propose a simple and effective plan." And the result of t win propose a suppre an outline of it.

First, "the entire internal revenue tax spon tobacco will be repealed. That portion of the internal revenue tax which is levied on alcohol used in the arts and manufactures will also be swept away. And finally, as the sugar growers. are willing to accept a reduction of 10 per cent. they will suggest, say, a reduction of 20 per cent-on this important necessity to the masses. No industry can be injured by this action, and over $60,000,000 of surplus revenue and useless was taxes will be lopped off."

Rut why make tobacco free and reduce the tax on sugar only 10 or 20 per cent? Why make to-bacco free and leave sugar subject to any tax? Tobacco is a luxury, and a perniclous one. Its use is limited, and they who use it pay the tar upon it. To free tobacco from tax and to leave sugar, an article of universal necessity and use, sugar, an article of universit necessity and use subject to tax, will not be a good programme for the republican party.

Nor should the tax on tobacco be abolished while the tax on salt remains, nor while the taxes on clothing and on manufactures of iron and steel remain so high. If the republicans lay down a programme on the basis outlined by those who want to protect special Eastern inter-ests, they may find that their own dissensions on the tariff question will soon begin to rival those that distract the democracy.

AN IOWA EXPERIMENT.

Some days ago THE CREGORIAN noticed the fact that the state of Iowa had enacted a law to compel all corporations chartered by other states and doing business in Iowa to re-incorporate under the provisions of Iowa's laws; and further, that obedience to the new statute that the state of the capture of the compensations of the compensations of the capture of the capt had been refused by outside corporations doing business in the state and that a test case had been taken to the state supreme court, with a view of getting a decision on the constitution-

It is well known that the object of the act, though the object was not arowed, was to ob-tain jurisdiction for the courts of the state over corporations chartered by other states and doing corporations constrered by other statutes and doub husiness in Iows, thereby preventing such cor-porations from resorting to courts of the United States for adjudication of rights in suits to which they might be parties. The fact that a similar statute has been talked of in Oregon makes the Iows experiment an interesting one here.

But the supreme court of lowa has dodged the issue. Unable to sustain the law on consti-tutional grounds, and certainly regarding the law arone beyond the constitutional power of the legislature to enact, it has begged the quetion by nimating that as the statute will be carried to the supreme court of the United States, it is well enough to affirm its validity proforms; but at the same time the state court makes no argument whatever to equal its desired which charts always that it could find no cision, which clearly shows that it could find no grounds for such argument that it would not be barned to present. It is evident that the members of the supreme court of Iowa have no doubt what the decision of the supreme court of the United States will be.

SHORT AND LONG HAULS.

Railway magnates of the transcontinental lines disagree as to the relations of local business and through business to each other. Of long-haul freight Senator Stanford says: "After short-hant business is secured all the long habit raffic is clear profit. As time gross on we shall improve our tracks and rolling-stock so that long-haul freight can be taken even lower than present rates." On the other hand President dent Adams of the Northern Pacific announces dent Adams of the Northern Facine announces that bis road gets no profit on its through hosi-ness, and that all its earnings are dependent upon its local business, which is largely sup-plied by its branch lines. The discrepancy of statement is notable; however, the conditions of traffic on the Adams roads and the Stanford roads may be, and doubtless are quite different,

If it be true that through traffic, on account of excessive competition, has to be done so cheaply that no profit can ensue, and that local business is the reliance for remaneration, then it must be admitted that the fact hears listed on that through this bill there will be an adjument which will not injure the rallways but will greatly relieve the burdens on local business.

NEW REFUNDING PLAN.

Among the bills now before congress to provide means for disposing of the surplus in the treasury is one which has been introduced in the senate by Aldrich of Rhode Island, and simnhaneously in the house by Hewitt of Now York. The bill proposes an exchange of 4% and 4 per cent, bonds for 2% per cent, bonds, on these terms, viz: If the holders will accept the exchange, the government will propay the interest on the 4½¢, due in 1804, and the is, due in 1907, computed at the rate of 3 per cent, per namum. Further, it proposes that, to induce the banks to take these 2° per cents, it will allow an issue of notes equal to the amount of honds deposited. The present law only therefits ultaneously in the house by Hewitt of New bonds deposited. The present law only permits 50 per cent. The requirements of the sinking fund compel the government to pay annually $55,000,000 on the unifound debt; and therefore the treasury will have to pay a large premium the reasony with have to pay a large promition the 4s and 4 per unless some arrangement of this kind can be effected. This paying of futerest in advance will require $500,000,000, but the government will gain largely in the end from the fact that it will pay nearly 50 per cent. less in interest on the new bonds. Ablrich and Hewitt, men of excellent founcial judgment, say the plan would be a good one for the gov-ernment. But it will hardly become a law. It to above the comprehension of the average con-

Says the Catholic Sentinet: "The Creconian, in its treatment of questions touching the religious faith of Catholics or matters affecting them as such, lets pass no opportunity to ridi-cule, revite and misrepresent them." Nonsensel. The mistake of the Sentinci is that it supposes the church it represents and the ministers of the church to be entirely above inquiry and criticism; and any inquiry or criticism is therefore interprets as the offspring of hostility and halved. It will find that in America, at least, however it may be elsewhere, the Catholic church is regarded as no more sacred and infaillible than any other, and that it is subject to the same public opinion, will receive the same treatment and be judged by the same judgments as are applied to others. Most Catholics realiza-this and make no objection to it or complaint about it. But here and there a bigoted organ of the church resents it, scolds, objects, calls hard names, and makes Besif indictions generally. Such organs need "admonition" from their wiser brethren.

The fire losses in the United States for aleven months of the present year foot up $105,000,000, and may be expected to reach a total of $115.000.000 for the entire year. It is believed that in our country, more than in any other, besee by fire are due to indifferent work in con-struction of buildings and to inattention to struction of pushings and to inattention to simple requirements of prindence in the man-agament of property. It is probable that gen-rations must yet come and go in this country-before the necessary tessons on this subject will become a heritage here. SENATOR STANFORD'S IDEA.

THE OREGONIAN of the 22d announced to its THE OREGONIAN of the 22d announced in the Washington dispatches that Senator Stanford would soon deliver a speech upon a bill introduced by him to encourage co-operation among working people. Stanford is a man of a good deal of sound sense, and while a good many persons, on mere superficial examination, will deem his theory fanciful, its soundness has been severely tested in England and has endured the trial. In 1844 an association called "The Equitable Phenesra" Co-operative Store" was founded in Rochdate, England, by a few poor flanned weavers. The times were bed; savings banks had failed and these thoughtful artisans, who had been taught to think by the famous Robert Owen, were urged by Owen, who hated the credit system, to form this association. Owen pointed out to these working men that the store-keeper, who gave long credit, mus, necessarily have to charge a higher price than a reasonable profit in order to protect himself from loss of interest and had debts. He also pointed out that the credit system led to constant ittigation, which weated both time and money, so he and hington dispatches that Senator Stan interest and near the constant litigation, which wasted both time and money, so he and some other philanthropic men of business urged them to try to get together a little capital and start a store of their own, and thus supply them selves with better goods at cheaper rates and save the loss and litigation of the credit system. Twenty-eight of these poor weavers began by subscribing twopence a week. The number of subscribers was afterwards increased to forty, and the weekly subscription to threepence.
When they had thus collected not quite $1.00
they hired a small shop, and after fitting it up had less than $70 left. The shopkeepers all sneered at the enterprise, saying that the whole stock in trade would not fill a wheelbarrow. The little association began with supplying each other with grocaties; next with ment and then with clothing. They prospered so rapidly that the store keepers who came to scoff and sneer. retired to groan and weep and swear; for, from supplying goods the association alvanced to supplying goods the sessoration advances manufacturing goods, owned a cort mill and a cotton mill and began to be a land-owning and building society. They set aside part of their profits for a library and reading room and founded a co-operative Torkish bath. The original capital of less than $140 swelled in a xteen years

This remarkable success was due to cash payments and square division of profits, and the fact that they religiously supplied good articles, giving lie buyer the worth of his money. Not merely did the shareholders share in the profits, but all buyers received an equitable percentage out he price of every article bought. Each purchaser, on paying for what he had bought, received a ticket which entitled him to that perceived a ticket which entitled him to that perceinings at each division of profits every and of each quarterly division of profits every poor man found that he not only had bought his goods as cheap as he could buy at the cheapest shop and had got them or the best quality, but found he had several shillings standing to his credit, which he could either take or leave to secumulate at the store. These co-operative as accumulate at the store. These co-testate we accumulate at the store. These co-testate multiplied rapidly in England and hare, as a whole, been a most remarkable success. In London it was adopted by the government cierks, and they founded a re-operative store that to-day commands the most fashionable and valuable trade in that city. So keenly do these po-operative associations in England compete with the ordinary undesman that the law was for a time in-voked by the tradesmen against them. But in voked by the tradesimen against them. During 1852 the co-operative associations obtained an act which allowed them to sell to persons not members of their body. For many years they were not allowed to hold more than an acre of their body to be described in the distribution was finally abolished. hand, but this restriction was finally abo and they were allowed to trade in land; to hold land to any extent and to act as building socie and to any extent and to act as uniting section. The co-operative system has taken in England a conspicuous place among established institutions, and in the independ of the allest historian of its time, "is certainly destined to develop rather than fade, to absorb tined to develop rather than fade, to absorb rather than be absorbed."

In this country the principle has already been successfully applied at Washington and Philadelphia, in the shape of co-operative building associations. There is ample and authentic historical testimony to show that the sound principle on which Soundor Stanford's bill is association as already been severely tested in England since 1844 and has splendidly endured the test. No less a man than John Shuart Mill, in his "Principles of Political Economy," Intimates that in his opinion a large solution of mates that in his opinion a large solution of social evils would be found in a system of infustrial co-operation. Mill writes as follows on this subject:

Associations like those we have described (viz. co-operative societies as they existed twenty or thirty years ago—that is, matnly for the purposes of distribution—and industrial partnerships of the Leclaire and Briggs type), by the very process of their success, are a course of education in those moral and active qualities by which alone success can be either preserved or attained. As associations multiplied they would tend more and more to absorb all work people, except those who have looking in understanding or too little viries to be to absorb all work people, except those who have no little winds to the differentialing or too little winds to be capable of learning to act on anyother system than that of narrow selfishness. As this change proceeded, owners of capital would gradually find it to their advantage, instead of maintaining the struggle of the mid system with work people of only the worst description, to lend their capital to the associations to do this at a diminishing rate of colorest and when the representations of the colorest and when the colorest colore of interest, and at last, perhaps, even to excha-their capital for terminable annuities. in this some such mode, the existing accumu ations o capital might nonestly, and by a kind of spontane ous process, become in the end the joint property of all who participate in their productive employ-

The industrial partnership of Briggs, referred to, successfully conducted the Whitwood col-lecties, but soared profits only after a certain amount was make, an experiment that was successfully be eated by the once famous sugar house of Alexander and Robert Stuart, of New Note of Alexander and robert Smart, of New York city. The Maison Lectaire experiment, referred to by Mr. Mill, was a most conspicuously successful application of the principle of profit learning; Let in this lastance the basiness direction of the bouse "is placed exclusively in the bands of two managing partners who hold half the capital and undertake personal liability for lesses, which does not attach to the workmen except in an indirect manner through then interest in the reserve fund "

CALIFORNIA WINE.

(at formin makes in 1850 25,000,000 gailone of wine, against our 7,500,000 last year. The San Francisco Soil says 40,000,000 pounds of grapes have been shipped East as Salds fruit, 50,000,000 pounds made into raisins, 20,000,000 pounds made into brands, and over 215,000,000 pounds made into brands, and over 215,000,000 pounds made into wine. The eastward shipments of lemons, lines and oranges will be twice as large as they were tast year, it is said, owing to a reduction of the freight charges.

Of the wine trade with the East, (the New York Those says:

Of the wine finds with the East, (the New York Times asps:

Heretofore the wine makers have been at the marcy of the wine merchants in San Francisco. These merchants unter thisting a price to be paid to the producer, and the producer has been forced to accept it. The owners of several large vine-yards have recently established agencies in east-ern efficie for the sale of their whee, and by excaping the Pacific coast middleman have been able to rake the price which they receive by nearly 100 per cent. The adoption of this system by all California producers who make large quantities of wine would work to their advantage and to the advantage of eastern consumers. Many persons in the East who would like to serve their selves and encourage the California producer by hydrig California by the season of the procure the wines under conditions that insure its purify. If such persons could trade directly with the eastern agent of well known vine-yards the consumption of pure California wines as a substitute for the adulterated which of Francis would be greatly increased. California wines are sufficient of the leading the normal time of 1000 calinos of the counterfeit product by officers of the health thematimen in this civichearofficers of the health department in this city dear ly shows.

The greatest market for California whoes and raisins will be found in the eastern seaboard states. The no orions adulteration of French where has prepared this market for the California product. It has created a demand for purity in whoes, and this is a demand which California can supply. Now the California producer should strive to perfect a plan by which he can put his goods into this market under conditions that will convince the consumer that he enjoys all the advantages which he would have if he should bey at the theyards.

Tennyson's 'Locksley Hall; Sixty Years A'-ter," will soon be published in this country. An fastern literary fournal is of opinion that "a lim-ited edition will fill the American demand." Long ago Tennyson's work began to show it at his brains had passed beyond the time of cream-ing, and for ten years every offort has been worse than its predecessors. His genuine po-etry, founded on Wordsworth and Keatls, but stry, founded of worders and the sade showing the influence of Cowper, Shelly and many more, cannot indeed be marred by this sad stuff be is pouring forth with the feeble garmility of aga; and yet every one who admires his genuine poetry where he had stopped when he caused to be inspired by "the vision and the faculty divine." and the faculty divine."

The fase of Attorney-Benoral Garland.

Gut in Ciucinnati Ecquiver.

But the compitionus seandal of Garland has never been taken hold of by the president with firmness, though it is as representative of high-handed grabbing as any performance which has ever taken place here in our generation. Government jobs almost invariably begin among persons who have a clutch upon the laws and the administration.

The Garland case was nothing but a band of thieres observing that one of the patents under the government had suriched its owners and stockholders. They concluded to jump the patent rights right here at the seat of government and sell infringement patents to speculators and schemers in different states. They relied upon the attorney general of the United States helping them out, and upon his latituence in certain of the courts where the district attorneys were subject to his rules and removal. They endeavored to bring into this job the head of an adjoining department, who came from a state immediately opposite the attorney-general's. There never was in the bistory of this government a more palpable case of using the cabiner itself to unsettle vested rights. The disclosure should have at any time produced an investigation after a removal by the president. Such a disclosure supped the very foundation of morals, and showed that the attorney-general had been a wolf from the time he came to Washington.

If has remained for Krine's illustrated West to give the people of the Northwest the greatest sur-prise, as well as the greatest and richest artistle treat, it has ever been thele good fortube to re-ceive. Vesterday morning was mentioned the elegant large double-page engraving of the elty of Spokams Fall+and water power, as being supplements is said with the December number of this enterprising magazine, and mentioned that nearly a hundred other smaller engravings of Pacilic Northwest scenes would be contained in the number; and it was thought this was all; but, although this surely is amply sufficient, it seems it is not all. The baif only has been told, for yesterday the publisher of Karnés Hundraded West placed on exhibition at Mokercher & Thompson's book store a pleture of Moint Hood as seen from the hills back of Portland, which, attistically, is a great frimpin of lithographic art. This picture is done in no evolors, and shows the grand old "monarch of the Cascades" in most pleturesque and striking form, just as it is seen from the lifts in the city of the Cascades. In one spleture plus and striking form, just as it is seen from the lifts the lift of the Cascades. In one of the cascades, the city of the cascades. New York Times, Dec. 12. A bill, which in its original form provided that agents or attorneys for trailroad companies that are been subsidized by giffs of public land or public money, comes before the senate the day as a special order. The bill which Mr. Beck introduced, and which was passed by a vote of 37 to 11, was an excellent one. After Senator Hawley procured a reconsideration and a reference to the judiciary committee that bill was twisted out of chape and made ridiculous by a majority of the committee, who desired to kill it. The bill as it stands now on the calendar is the work of Senator John H. Mitchell, of tregge, who denounced the original Beck bill and tried to denounced the original Beck bill and tried to denounce the original sense to be a sense by the tarift or internal revenue laws. The intention of the committee was to make the prohibition so broad and comprehensive that the bill would die of its own weight. It must be a great energency that forces George F. Edmunds to work shoulder to shoulder with John H. Mitchell for the defect of a bill so warmly supported by public opinion as was the original bill of Mr. Beck. Against a misson of such forces in the senate Mr. Beck can hardly hope to be successful.

Having noticed the general interest in all matters pertaining to mining and mining machines, I desire to call the attention of the public to a valuable invention of recent date. I am not in any way personally interested.

not in any way personally interested.

In Mr. Herbert lang's able treatment of this mining subject there seems to be but little left to ray. Referring more particularly to his treatment of the black and mines along the southern coast of Oregon, and the different machines invented for working them, I notice he has not become acquantised with the latest invention for saving this fine gold. This machine was invented by H. G. Blodgett, the patent is now entirely controlled by S. B. Hendee, of Harrisburg, Or.

I was present and assisted in making a theorough test of its qualities. After careful investigation my conclusione are these: It is the only amalgumating machine in existence that approaches perfection, combining with simplicity of construction almost unfinited expacity and certainty of saving every particle of gold that pusses into it. The difficulties herefolder until with a library sand machines are almost entirely overcome—such as sand baking, friction, cutting the amalgan from the plates and producing houred quicksilver. These obstacles are so nearly overcome as not to prevent its successful operation. Although to my knowledge it has not been tested in bandling quartz pulp, it is conceded by all who base investigated the matter that it will see of greater velue in saving the Roll in quartz pulp, it will return the opinion that it will save every color of gold in quartz pulp.

When in use the drums are immersed to a depth of from two to four inches in a tank of water, the sand being sheveled or striced into the inside or perforated drum. The foreign cargoes market reported two declines during the past week, one of 3d and one of 5d, advancing 3d to-day. This drop came despute low British imports and lessened home deliveries. The quantity on passage to the United Kingdom increased 20,000 qrs, while that to the continent decreased 20,000 qrs, while that to the continent decreased 20,000 qrs. This increase has been mainly in shipments from the Atlantic scalebard. The American visible increased 1,502,000 bushels last week. No doubt this all, etcd the foreign market, thingap and New York have ruled easy without marked change, San Francisco dull and weak. On Widnesday and to-day advices all around were of a better character, but the approaching holidays are beginning to cut a figure and the next two weeks may be expected to be a period of duliness, after which British stortaking and a new situation generally will be ipporder. It is no over-confident feeling that now has hold of trade, for hopes of better markets acem/juite justified in the light for events; yet this confidence may possibly lead to some disappointment. In the meantime trade is largely waiting.

read to some disappointment. In the measure trade is largely waiting.

The local market can in be said to show decided change from a week age. Receipts continue even and liberal according to most ideas. Statements that the crop is comparatively well soid up have been confirmed on all sides. In the valley three or four important points have practically none unsold, while along the west side the liberal shipping movement of six weeks past has made sarious inroads but owarehouse holdings. Butch the same is true regarding the eastern section, where farmers especially hold inth supplies. In the light of these credited statements in true arrivals will be watched with interest. Probably more business has intely been done than generally reported. The easter advices closed some pending negotiations, and holders have taken prices refused but a short time since. The quotations for valley has remained 83 234(2) 13, with business at some of the cumpeting points being at a slightly higher range. These figures may be crosted at the close. Walla Walla transactions has a been light, but some large lots are reported soid. For ordinary business $1 2562 26 is still quoted.

The facet of vessels arriving Saturday should have quick dispatch, for there is a large quantity of loading stuti here. Others will be along with the first good weather, and as they have prior charters, January exports should be liberal.
